

Chaphekar sets up green painting plant

Chaphekar Engineering has successfully adopted cathodic electro deposition (CED) technology to set up a 100 per cent eco-friendly truck body painting plant. Satish Borwankar, executive director - Quality Tata Motors, inaugurated the plant. The company said in a press release that the plant works by CED method where the truck body is submerged into one lakh litre capacity tank containing environment friendly water base paint. Spread on one lakh sq feet, this is the biggest plant in India for truck body painting.
